COUNCIL DIRECTIVE 2008/7/EC
of 12 February 2008
concerning indirect taxes on the raising of capital

THE COUNCIL OF THE EUROPEAN UNION,

Having regard to the Treaty establishing the European Community, and in particular Articles 93 and 94 thereof,

Having regard to the proposal from the Commission,

Having regard to the opinion of the European Parliament <sup>(1)</sup>,

Having regard to the opinion of the European Economic and Social Committee <sup>(2)</sup>,

Whereas:

- (1) Council Directive 69/335/EEC of 17 July 1969 concerning indirect taxes on the raising of capital <sup>(3)</sup> has been substantially amended several times <sup>(4)</sup>. Since further amendments are to be made, it should be recast in the interests of clarity.
- (2) The indirect taxes on the raising of capital, namely the capital duty (the duty chargeable on contributions of capital to companies and firms), the stamp duty on securities, and duty on restructuring operations, regardless of whether those operations involve an increase in capital, give rise to discrimination, double taxation and disparities which interfere with the free movement of capital. The same applies as regards other indirect taxes with the same characteristics as capital duty and the stamp duty on securities.
- (3) Consequently, it is in the interests of the internal market to harmonise the legislation on indirect taxes on the raising of capital in order to eliminate, as far as possible, factors which may distort conditions of competition or hinder the free movement of capital.
- (4) The economic effects of capital duty are detrimental to the regrouping and development of undertakings. Such effects are particularly harmful in the present economic situation in which there is a paramount need for priority to be given to stimulating investment.
- (5) The best solution for attaining these objectives would be to abolish capital duty.

<sup>(3)</sup> OJ L 249, 3.10.1969, p. 25. Directive as last amended by Directive 2006/98/EC (OJ L 363, 20.12.2006, p. 129).

▼B

- (6) However, the losses of revenue which would result from the immediate application of such a measure are unacceptable for Member States which currently apply capital duty. Those Member States should therefore have the opportunity to continue to subject to capital duty all or part of the transactions concerned, it being understood that a single rate of tax must be charged within one and the same Member State. Once a Member State has chosen not to levy capital duty on all or part of the transactions under this Directive, it should not be possible for it to reintroduce such duties.
- (7) It is inherent in the concept of an internal market that a duty on the raising of capital within the internal market by a company or firm should not be charged more than once. Accordingly, if the Member State to which the taxing right is attributed does not levy capital duty on certain or all transactions covered by this Directive, no other Member State is to exercise a taxing right in respect of those transactions.
- (8) It is appropriate to maintain strict conditions for situations where Member States continue to levy capital duty, in particular as regards exemptions and reductions.
- (9) Apart from capital duty, no indirect taxes on the raising of capital should be levied. In particular, no stamp duty should be levied on securities, regardless of the origin of such securities, and regardless of whether they represent a company's own capital or its loan capital.
- (10) The list of capital companies set out in Directive 69/335/EEC is incomplete and should therefore be adapted.
- (11) Since the objectives of this Directive cannot be sufficiently achieved by the Member States and can therefore be better achieved at Community level, the Community may adopt measures, in accordance with the principle of subsidiarity as set out in Article 5 of the Treaty. In accordance with the principle of proportionality, as set out in that Article, this Directive does not go beyond what is necessary in order to achieve those objectives.
- (12) The obligation to transpose this Directive into national law should be confined to those provisions which represent a substantive change as compared with the earlier Directives. The obligation to transpose the provisions which are unchanged arises under the earlier Directives.
- (13) This Directive should be without prejudice to the obligations of the Member States relating to the time limits for transposition into national law of the Directives set out in Annex II, Part B.
- (14) In view of the detrimental effects of capital duty, the Commission should report every three years on the operation of this Directive with a view to abolishing this duty,

HAS ADOPTED THIS DIRECTIVE:

CHAPTER I

SUBJECT MATTER AND SCOPE

*Article 1Subject matter

This Directive regulates the levying of indirect taxes in respect of the following:

- (a) contributions of capital to capital companies;
- (b) restructuring operations involving capital companies;
- (c) the issue of certain securities and debentures.

*Article 2Capital company

1. For the purposes of this Directive ‘capital company’ means:
  - (a) any company which takes one of the forms listed in Annex I;
  - (b) any company, firm, association or legal person the shares in whose capital or assets can be dealt in on a stock exchange;
  - (c) any company, firm, association or legal person operating for profit, whose members have the right to dispose of their shares to third parties without prior authorisation and are only responsible for the debts of the company, firm, association or legal person to the extent of their shares.
2. For the purposes of this Directive, any other company, firm, association or legal person operating for profit shall be deemed to be a capital company.

*Article 3Contributions of capital

For the purposes of this Directive and subject to Article 4, the following transactions shall be considered to be ‘contributions of capital’:

- (a) the formation of a capital company;
- (b) the conversion into a capital company of a company, firm, association or legal person which is not a capital company;
- (c) an increase in the capital of a capital company by contribution of assets of any kind;
- (d) an increase in the assets of a capital company by contribution of assets of any kind, in consideration not of shares in the capital or assets of the company, but of rights of the same kind as those of members, such as voting rights, a share in the profits or a share in the surplus upon liquidation;
- (e) the transfer from a third country to a Member State of the centre of effective management of a capital company whose registered office is in a third country;

▼B

- (f) the transfer from a third country to a Member State of the registered office of a capital company whose centre of effective management is in a third country;
- (g) an increase in the capital of a capital company by capitalisation of profits or of permanent or temporary reserves;
- (h) an increase in the assets of a capital company through the provision of services by a member which does not entail an increase in the company's capital, but which does result in a variation in the rights in the company or which may increase the value of the company's shares;
- (i) a loan taken up by a capital company, if the creditor is entitled to a share in the profits of the company;
- (j) a loan taken up by a capital company with a member or a member's spouse or child, or a loan taken up with a third party, if it is guaranteed by a member, on condition that such loans have the same function as an increase in the company's capital.

*Article 4Restructuring operations

1. For the purposes of this Directive, the following restructuring operations shall not be considered to be contributions of capital:

- (a) the transfer by one or more capital companies of all their assets and liabilities, or one or more branches of activity to one or more capital companies which are in the process of being formed or which are already in existence, provided that the consideration for the transfer consists at least in part of securities representing the capital of the acquiring company;
- (b) the acquisition, by a capital company which is in the process of being formed or which is already in existence, of shares representing a majority of the voting rights of another capital company, provided that the consideration for the shares acquired consists at least in part of securities representing the capital of the former company. Where the majority of the voting rights is reached by means of two or more transactions, only the transaction whereby the majority of voting rights is reached and any subsequent transactions shall be regarded as restructuring operations.

2. Restructuring operations shall also include the transfer to a capital company of all assets and liabilities of another capital company which is wholly owned by the former company.

CHAPTER II

CHAPTER III

SPECIAL PROVISIONSArticle 7Levying of capital duty in certain Member States

1. Notwithstanding Article 5(1)(a), a Member State which as at 1 January 2006 charged a duty on contributions of capital to capital companies, hereinafter ‘capital duty’, may continue to do so provided that it complies with Articles 8 to 14.
2. If, at any time after 1 January 2006, a Member State discontinues the charging of capital duty, it may not reintroduce it.
3. If, at any time after 1 January 2006, a Member State discontinues the charging of capital duty on the contributions of capital referred to in Article 3(g) to (j), it may not reintroduce capital duty on such contributions of capital, notwithstanding Article 10(2).

*Article 8Rate of capital duty

1. Capital duty shall be charged at a single rate.
2. The rate of capital duty applied by a Member State may not exceed the rate applied by that Member State on 1 January 2006.

Where, after that date, the Member State reduces the rate applied, it may not reintroduce a higher rate.

3. The rate of capital duty may not in any event exceed 1 %.

*Article 9Exclusion of certain entities from the scope of application

Member States may for the purposes of levying capital duty choose not to regard as capital companies the entities referred to in Article 2(2).

▼BArticle 10Transactions subject to capital duty and distribution of taxing rights

1. Where, pursuant to Article 7(1), a Member State continues to charge capital duty, it shall subject to capital duty the contributions of capital referred to in Article 3(a) to (d), if the centre of effective management of the capital company is situated in that Member State at the time when the contribution of capital is made.

It shall also subject to capital duty the contributions of capital referred to in Article 3(e) and (f).

2. Where a Member State continues to charge capital duty, it may do so on the contributions of capital referred to in Article 3(g) to (j), if the centre of effective management of the capital company is situated in that Member State at the time when the contribution of capital is made.

3. Where the centre of effective management of a capital company is situated in a third country and its registered office is situated in a Member State which continues to charge capital duty, contributions of capital shall be subject to capital duty in that Member State.

4. Where the registered office and the centre of effective management of a capital company are situated in a third country, the supply of fixed or working capital to a branch situated in a Member State which continues to charge capital duty may be subject to capital duty in that Member State.

*Article 11Basis of assessment for capital duty

1. In the case of contributions of capital as referred to in Article 3(a), (c) and (d), the basis of assessment for capital duty shall be the actual value of assets of any kind contributed or to be contributed by the members, after the deduction of liabilities assumed and of expenses borne by the company as a result of each contribution.

The charging of capital duty may be postponed until the contributions have been effected.

2. In the case of contributions of capital as referred to in Article 3(b), (e) and (f), the basis of assessment for capital duty shall be the actual value of the assets of any kind belonging to the company at the time of the conversion or transfer, after the deduction of liabilities and expenses for which the company is responsible at that time.

3. In the case of contributions of capital as referred to in Article 3(g), the basis of assessment for capital duty shall be the nominal amount of the increase.

4. In the case of contributions of capital as referred to in Article 3(h), the basis of assessment for capital duty shall be the actual value of the services provided, after deduction of the liabilities assumed and the expenses borne by the company as a result of the provision of such services.

5. In the case of contributions of capital as referred to in Article 3(i) and (j), the basis of assessment for capital duty shall be the nominal amount of the loan taken up.

▼B

6. In the cases referred to in paragraphs 1 and 2, the actual value of the shares in the company allotted or belonging to each member may be used as the basis of assessment for capital duty, except where contributions are made only in cash.

The amount on which duty is charged shall in no circumstances be less than the nominal amount of the shares in the company allotted or belonging to each member.

*Article 12Exclusion from the basis of assessment for capital duty

1. In the case of an increase in capital, the basis of assessment for capital duty shall not include the following:

- (a) the amount of the assets belonging to the capital company which are allocated to the increase in capital and which have already been subjected to capital duty;
- (b) the amount of the loans taken up by the capital company which are converted into shares in the company and which have already been subjected to capital duty.

2. A Member State may exclude from the basis of assessment for capital duty the amount of the capital contributed by a member with unlimited liability for the obligations of a capital company as well as the share of such a member in the company's assets.

Where a Member State exercises that power, any transaction as a result of which the liability of a member is limited to his share in the company's capital, in particular when the limitation of liability results from the conversion of a capital company into a different type of capital company, shall be subject to capital duty.

Capital duty shall be charged in all such cases on the value of the share in the company's assets belonging to members with unlimited liability for the company's obligations.

3. In the case of a contribution of capital as referred to in Article 3(c), following a reduction in the company's capital as a result of losses sustained, that part of the contribution of capital which corresponds to the reduction in capital may be excluded from the basis of assessment, provided that the contribution of capital occurs within four years of the reduction in capital.

*Article 13Exemption of contributions of capital to certain capital companies

Member States may exempt from capital duty contributions of capital made to the following:

- (a) capital companies which supply public services, such as public transport undertakings, port authorities or undertakings supplying water, gas or electricity, in cases where the State or regional or local authorities own at least half of the company's capital;

▼B

- (b) capital companies which, in accordance with their regulations and in fact, pursue exclusively and directly cultural, social, relief or educational objectives.

Member States which exempt such contributions of capital from capital duty shall also apply the exemption to the supply of fixed or working capital to a branch within its territory as referred to in Article 10(4).

*Article 14Derogation procedure

Certain types of contributions of capital or of capital companies may be the subject of exemptions or reductions in rates in order to achieve fairness in taxation, or for social considerations, or to enable a Member State to deal with special situations.

The Member State which proposes to take such a measure shall refer the matter to the Commission in good time, having regard to the application of Article 97 of the Treaty.
